A VERSATILE DUO: ROHI LAUNCHES UNO + SONO

An extraordinary creation from rohi demonstrates how colour combinations can produce inspiring worlds of colour. With UNO + SONO, the rohi weaving mill is launching a Mix & Match collection of two different fabrics that opens up new, creative design options. UNO + SONO derives from the musical term ‘unison’ and demonstrates how harmonious and powerful the two materials are when combined. Different depths of colour and textures combine to create an artistic ensemble. Each of the two fabrics, whether used alone or in exquisite compositions, creates a harmonious and refreshing interior experience.

NEW COMBINATION AND DESIGN OPPORTUNITIES

Both fabrics have a distinctive design, looking great alone as well as together. UNO impresses with clear, strong colours and has a striking yet understated base tone for versatile cover options. Available in a total of fifteen colours, UNO is the clever colour master, the universal all-rounder, the foundation for any combination. In contrast, SONO is a statement fabric with an unusual and bold design in eleven vibrant colours. As a modern interpretation of the herringbone pattern, it is especially focused on graphics. In their composition, UNO + SONO enable a wide range of combination and design opportunities.

UNITED THROUGH WORLDS OF COLOURS – AN INSPIRING COOPERATION

UNO + SONO open up inspiring worlds of colour and multifaceted compositions. The interplay of colours and textures can also be found in other art forms, as demonstrated by rohi’s cooperation with the risography studio ‘Herr und Frau Rio’. The Munich-based studio develops mood graphics that reflect the collection’s colour schemes and visualise how the colours, in their vibrancy and depth, can be combined. risography shows how the layering and separating of colours can create new effects as an art form. As a skilled craft, risography, like weaving, represents technical sophistication, structural aesthetics and sustainable, high-quality production.
